Roof Collapsed Under Crowd.

The crowd was gathered upon the roof of a building directly over the furnaces of the glass works. When the roof collapsed every occupant was precipitated upon the heated top and rolled off. Fully forty were injured, nearly all of them seriously. Seven of the dead are boys ranging in age from ten to fifteen years. They were found lying in a row and most of them were badly mangled.

There were at least 200 people on the roof when it collapsed, and of these at least sixty went down. Those who were fortunate enough to be on a solid section of the building scurried down and helped emove the injured. The heat around the furnaces was so great, however, that to many no assistance could be rendered and they slowly roasted to death. Not 200 gards away were 20,000 people watching the foot ball game and when the news became known there was intense excitement among them. The ushers went through the crowd calling for doctors and many surgeons hurriedly left the game. The living victims from the disaster were taken to various hospitals. The Southern Pacific hospital, within two blocks of the glass works, was soon overcrowded and many wounded had to be turned away.

They were hurrled to St. Luke's, the city receiving hospital and nearby drug stores. So scattered are they among the various institutions that it is impossible to tell exactly how many were hurt or how seriously they were injured.

The coroner did not have enough wagons to remove the dead and they were taken away in express wagons. Many elegant private carriages were waiting outside the foot ball grounds and they were pressed has requisitioned copies of all the history into service to take away the wounded. A high fence surrounds the glass works grounds and thousands of people attempted to get inside. They were restrained with difficulty by a large force of police.

List of Dead and Injured. About seventy-five persons fell through the roof upon the redbot furnaces and glass vats below. All were horribly burned and it is feared that in addition to the ten deaths already reported there will be several more.

The dead: WILLIAM VALENCIA. GEORGE EXTELL. EDWIN FLAHAVEN. M. VANDIGINA. J. A. MULROONY THOMAS J. RIPPON. THOMAS OAKES. W. H. HACHFELT. TWO UNIDENTIFIED MEN.

Reported from Unofficial Sources That

MANILA, Nov. 29.-Rear Admiral Remey has as yet received no official report of the wreck of the United States auxiliary cruiser Yosemite, which parted its cables and struck a reef off the harbor of San Luis d'Apra, island of Guam, during the typhoon of November 13 and was subsequently driven to sea by the gale, where it sank November 15. The United States cruiser Newark will sail for Guam tomorrow to investigate the circumstances of the disaster. According to dispatches received here from unofficial sources the wind was blowutles today M. Cochery, the acting president ing from the southeast in the early morning of that body, announced that M. Denys Cochin, conservative, representing a district hour. The Yosemite had two anchors down, but both were dragged a mile across the tion as to the intentions of the government harbor entrance. At 11 a. m. the vessel struck the reef and stove in forward. It drifted for an hour and at noon struck the and the occupants were drowned. At M. Cochery's request M. Denys Cochin were: Coxswain S. Swanson, Seaman George

J. L. Davis and Joseph Anderson. The storm abated somewhat at 1 p. m .. the southwest.

A dozen of the crew attempted to carry a line ashore, but the boat capsized, although the occupants managed to reach the land. Meanwhile the Yosemite was being blown seaward, its head down and the forward compartments filling. The boller and engine rooms, however, were free of water and the pumps were kept going. The cruiser was kept affeat until the afternoon of November 15, when the United States collier Justin which also had suffered damage to its anchors and had narrowly escaped the reef, was sighted.

The Justin attempted to tow the Yosemite with two chains and two cables, but these parted.

Finally 138 of the Yosemite's crew wenty-six marines and nine officers, were transferred to the Justin, together with $68,000 Mexican money. The Yesemite soon plunged forward Known Cases Number Twenty-Pour and Health Officers Feel Uneasy About It.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 .- A smallpox scare which first came to the public notice yesterday, when two cases of that disease were reported to the West Sixty-sixth street station by the Board of Health, has spread, until at a late hour tonight there were twenty-four known cases. When the first two cases were discovered Dr. Benedict and Dr. Somerset of the Bureau of Contagious Diseases commenced a most thorough investigation of the district in which the disease appeared.

The first two cases were found on West Sixty-ninth street. The two doctors, assisted by Dr. Thomas Burkhalter and Dr. Marxacuh of the Willard Parker hospital. commenced to vaccinate all people found in that house and the neighboring tenements. Many of the lodgers and tenants who live in what is known as "all nations" block between West End avenue and the railroad tracks on West Sixty-ninth street persistently refused to allow the doctors to vaccinate them. Captain Frank Kear of the West Sixty-sixth street station detailed six men to assist the doctors in enforcing vaccination. LINCOLN, Nov. 29 .- (Special Telegram.) -In one contest today Nebraska scored more points against the glants from Minuesota than did eleven other college foet ball teams in as many different games. score-20 to 12-denotes the superiority of the Minnesotans over the Nebraskans, but the figures are significant in still another way, for they show that the Cornhuskers, as the visitors saw fit to call them, put up a harder fight and accomplished better results than either Chicago, Wisconsin, Northwestern or any of the other teams that played Minnesota this year. Nebraska made a brilliant but hopeless fight. It was science aione against a combination of science and Nebraska Held Well. Nebraska repeatedly held Minnesota for downs and several times when the ball was perilcusly near the goal line succeeded, with no apparent difficulty, in regaining the ball from the opposing team. There was considerable punting throughout the game and in this play Minnesota excelled. Nebraska's punts were all too high, while those of Minnesota were low and long. In one respect Nebraska was surprised. It was anticipated that Minnesota's ends comprised the weak part of the team, but the first few minutes of play demonstrated that they were as strong as any other part of the team.

a few minutes after the game began, played a star game all the way through. In the first half ne gained the ball on a fake kick, eluded all pursuers and ran seventy yards for a touchdown. This was the most spectacular play of the game. Pillsbury made gered at the hotels that Minnesota would score sixteen more points than Nebraska and not a few bets were made that Nebrasks would not score at all. This money, of course, was all won by the local crowd.

Nebraska Kicks Off.

Captain Page of the Gophers was the south goal, giving the pigskin to Nebraska. Minnesota therefore had the choice of positions during the first half, the ground being downgrade toward the Cornhuskers' goa and the wind blowing slightly from the south. Ringer kicked off at 2:38 p. m. and Dobie caught the ball and carried it back ten yards before he was downed. Minnesota put the ball into play at the thirty-yard line on Nebraska territory. At this point they tried their first place kick for goal, missing by a scratch, the ball hitting the east goal post and dropping outside. Nebraska kicked off from the twentyyard line very poorly, netting them not to exceed ten yards. Ringer's punts were too high in the air and did not go far. At this point Minnesota gave the first exhibition of the superiority of beef over science with light weight behind it. Steady gains through the line, aided by a fifteen-yard gain by La Frans, brought them within five yards of the Nebraska goal and Aune carried the ball over for the first touchdown. Knowlton failed to kick goal. Score: Minnesota, 5; Nebraska, 0.

Ringer kicked off from the center. Minnesota returned the ball fifteen yards and lost the ball on a fumble. Westover went through the Gophers' heavy line for fifteen yards and Montgomery for ten more. Then Nebraska rooters took cheer and yelled. But the scarlet and cream upholders lost the ball on downs. They held the big men down on the next two line bucks and forced another punt by Knewlton. Drain fumbled on an attempted fly catch and Crandall downed the leather. Net loss of fifty yards to Nebraska. Not gaining the coveted amount Ringer punted and returned the ball to the center of the field. Knowlton punted back and the ball was caught down the field by Crandall, who was downed in his tracks. Minnesota recovered the ball on an off-side play. Cook was injured in a scrimmage and replaced by Pillsbury, who played the star game for Nebraska thereafter. Minnesota made steady gains toward their opponents' goal and Hoyt carried the ball over for the second touch-beefs, and the combination won.

There is no question remaining as to the Nebraskans' ability. They are unquestionably among the chosen. They played heroically and their ambitton to make a higher score against Minnesota than did any of the great teams was fulfilled. Coach Booth had his men in perfect condition. Their team work was faultless, for which large credit is due to the coach and to Captain Brew. The Nebraskans are lightweights, averaging about twenty pounds less per man than the Minnesotans, but even the powerful line of the opposition was unable to successfully break the defense. Most of Minnesota's gains were made by punting. The tackleback formation used with such telling effect. by Yale against Harvard and Princeton was tried by the visitors, but without avail.
